DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-9, 22-30, 32-41 and 49-51 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Cannon. Cannon discloses in the specification a gaming apparatus and method comprising a plurality of different games, which operate simultaneously, and where one or more of the games can act as a bonus indicator. Column 8, lines 34-46 discusses the simultaneous play of the games. Column 8, line 66 to column 9, line 20 and column 32, lines 55-60 disclose that different games may be played simultaneously. Column 23, lines 21-63 recite a complimentary game, which is enabled by credit wagered in a primary game. Column 24, lines 14-61 discusses a bonus which may be indicated by one or more of the games. Claim 93 of Cannon is also directed to a bonus resulting from at least one of the games. Any of the plurality of games played may be designated as a "primary" or "bonus" game, as there is nothing inherent in a primary game or bonus game which is not disclosed by Cannon. Cannon further discloses that the bonus indicator for one game operates independently of other simultaneous games. With respect to claims 2-6, 13-17, 23-27 and 34-38, Cannon discloses in Column 8, line 66 to column 9, line 11 discloses the specific games recited in the claims, including different types of reel games and roulette games. With respect to claims 7, 8, 18, 19, 28, 29, 39 and 40, Cannon discloses in column 8, lines 24-29 that the gaming apparatus is linked to a casino management system and to other gaming machines. With respect to claims 9, 20, 30 and 41, Cannon discloses in column 15, lines 14-28 and column 19, lines 52-55 that the gaming apparatus includes a bonus indicator which shows participation in a tournament among linked machines. With respect to claims 11, 12, 32 and 33, Cannon discloses in column 24, line 32 and column 28, line 10 that prizes may be awarded. Such prizes are inherently promotional. With respect to claim 50, Cannon discloses the provision of a bonus game when a bonus condition is met at column 24, lines 20-25. With respect to claim 51, the bonus indicating games of Cannon operate randomly to indicate whether or not the player is entitled to a bonus.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed on July 6, 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. The amendments to the claims do not overcome the Cannon reference. It is not clear how credit being wagered "in" a primary game is defined such that it distinguishes from the prior art. Cannon teaches a player making a wager, receiving credits and then playing games based on the credits. To the extent that the claim recites a "bonus" indicator in the sense of not having to pay additional credits, the complementary game discussed at column 26, lines 21-63 of Cannon reads on the newly added claim limitation. In particular, lines 35-40 recite that [t]he complimentary game may be caused to play automatically in response to a player's initiation of play in one or more other games of chance in which wagers have been placed. Preferably, the game outcome(s) of the complimentary game(s) are revealed substantially simultaneously with the game outcome(s) of the at least one other game of chance in which the player has wagered.

Viewed in combination with other portions of Cannon, particularly those reciting that additional games comprise a reel, this excerpt discloses a bonus indicator which is enabled by credit wagered in a primary game. The excerpt cited by applicant also reads on the claim language, as the claim language is quite broad. Bonus indicators based on "high level wagering", including games played per time period and/or dollars wagered per time period, are still enabled by credit wagered in a primary game. The complimentary game discussed at column 26, lines 21-63 of Cannon also comprises a bonus feature which a primary game "has", to the extent that a primary game "having" a bonus feature is a meaningful limitation. As a result, the rejections are maintained.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
